

"PLAYHOUSE"

LILIANE Dolls Villa could be a dream house for children, as well as for adults who have an eye for quality. Measuring 1.28 metres tall on metal castors with brake systems, the three-storey playhouse exhibits meticulous attention to details from its design through to the materials it employs. Open on four sides with perforated stainless steel roofs, the birch plywood structure reveals a kitchen counter and a catalogue of wood furniture next to functional wall mirror and aluminium utensils in seven rooms connected by two spiral staircases. The unblemished nature of wood has been consciously retained for a genuine connection between children and products of the earth.
